David, happy new year.

Please give us a definitive answer as to whether it will be tonight or in the morning. Our team has been waiting since morning. There is no need for us to unnecessarily wait until midnight in the off chance there is a filing tonight.

We disrupted multiple vacations on Thursday when we were told it would be filed that day, only to find out after close of business that it would not be filed that day.

Thanks,
Bit

David,

Dish indicated it would file its ex parte Tuesday morning. We have not received it and it is now after the close of business. Does Dish still intend to file its ex parte application? If so, what is the timing?

Hi Rose,

Dish California will not be filing its ex parte application tonight. In view of the holiday and as a courtesy to avoid MaxLinear having to respond over the holiday weekend, Dish California will wait to file until Tuesday morning.

Best regards,

David

We consulted this order and this is why we are asking that Fish file today. Saturday filings will be more inconvenient for the Court and our staff.

I am at breakfast with my family on vacation but Rose is available to confer with you now. Please ring her office number.

2. As you saw from our OOO, our team is out of office for the holidays. Please propose available windows on Friday and I or someone on our team will confer with Dish. I am on Hawaii time so please account for that in your proposed windows.

Bitá,

I wanted to touch base with you about two things relating to the motion MaxLinear filed last Friday.

First, can you confirm that the motion and exhibits contain only Dish confidential information and may be shared with the client?

Second, Dish California will be filing an ex parte application to extend the time for Dish California to amend its counterclaims and/or respond to MaxLinear's motion. As you likely saw, Entropic agreed to extend the time for Entropic to respond to the counterclaims. As we previously explained to you, we believe that it will be most efficient for the Court to decide any motion to dismiss after the pending venue motions are decided. Moreover, now that Entropic has agreed to extend the time for its response, we believe it would be more efficient for the Court to consider potential motions to dismiss filed by Entropic at the same time as the motion filed by MaxLinear. Our ex parte application will ask the Court to set the same schedule laid out in the stipulation between Entropic and Dish California.

We anticipate filing the ex parte application by the end of the week. Please let me know when you all are available to meet and confer regarding the ex parte application.

Very Best,
Oliver

Bitá,

I am responding on behalf of David Barkan as he is on vacation this week. We are in receipt of your letter and are preparing a fulsome response. However, as your issues appear to arise out of Dish California's assertion of FRAND-related counterclaims—issues which may be resolved once the other Dish defendants become part of the case—we believe any motion to dismiss would be most efficiently decided after Dish’s venue motion is decided. Moreover, your letter raises other issues that may be cured through amendment of Dish California’s counterclaims—potential amendments that we would need additional time to consider. As such, we believe it would be mutually beneficial to seek an extension of time for MaxLinear and Entropic to answer or otherwise respond to Dish’s counterclaim complaint until after the Court decides the pending venue motion. More specifically, we would propose that MaxLinear’s deadline to answer or otherwise respond be extended to 21 days after all Dish entities answer and file counterclaims. In addition to allowing the Court to decide these issues in light of all of the parties, this would allow MaxLinear and Entropic to only have to respond to these counterclaims once.

Please let us know whether MaxLinear is amenable to such an extension or whether you would like to discuss further.

Very Best,
Oliver
